bullying.

If someone upsets you or hurts you, you must tell an adult, a friend or a member of the school council.

Sometimes it is easier to talk to a friend or a member of the school council about being bullied.

You can ask your friend or school councillor to help you tell an adult.

What happens after you tell an adult?

The adult will speak to the person who has been bullying. If they find out that it is true, they will explain that bullying makes people sad.

The person doing the bullying will be told not to bully again and to say sorry to the person that has been hurt.

The adult will phone both sets of parents or carers and tell them what has happened. The headteacher will also be told about the bullying.

If the bullying happens again, the parents or carers will be asked to come into school to talk about how their child can be helped to stop bullying.

The parents or carers need to agree that they will help their child to stop bullying.
